Civil Code

Art. 2393

(Derivative liability action)

A liability action against the directors is initiated by resolution of the shareholders' meeting, even if the company is in liquidation. The resolution concerning the liability of directors may be adopted in connection with the discussion of the financial statements, even if not set forth on the agenda, when it in fact deals with the period referred to in the financial statements. The action can be initiated within five years of the end of the director's term of office. The resolution on a liability action necessarily results in the removal from office of the directors against whom it was proposed, provided it is adopted by at least twenty percent of the share capital. In such case, the same shareholders' meeting designates their successors. The company may decline to pursue the liability action and instead settle it, provided such decision to settle the action is approved by express resolution of the shareholders' meeting and provided the resolution is not opposed by more than twenty percent of the share capital or, in the case of public limited companies, more than five percent of the share capital or to the extent provided for in the statute on exercise of the derivative liability action pursuant to the first and paragraphs of Article 2393 bis.
